Indianapolis Cultural Trail Announces Call for Interested Program Partners

INDIANAPOLIS - Indianapolis Cultural Trail, Inc. announced today an open Call for Interested Program Partners in an effort to invite the community to help shape high quality and free programming along the Indianapolis Cultural Trail: A Legacy of Gene and Marilyn Glick and places along the Trail, including Lugar Plaza, the Downtown Canal, and Georgia Street. Submissions are encouraged by February 20, 2023.

"Our goal with the Call for Interested Program Partners is to have the Indianapolis community help create and shape high quality programming along the Trail" said Indianapolis Cultural Trail, Inc. executive director, Kären Haley. "We believe that providing free and engaging programming along the Cultural Trail provides both an opportunity to enhance the experience along the Trail and also highlight the unique culture and character of Indianapolis."

Interested non-profits, local businesses, and passionate individuals are invited to learn more about the opportunity on the Cultural Trail's website and at two public information sessions:

- Friday, Feb. 3 at 1 PM
- Monday, Feb. 13 at 3 PM

Advance registration is encouraged for the information sessions which have both in person and virtual options.

Beginning in 2020, the Cultural Trail has partnered with the City of Indianapolis to manage and program city owned places along the Trail including Lugar Plaza, the Downtown Canal, and Georgia Street.

"Our network of public spaces plays into the cultural fiber of our city by strengthening connections to the arts, community, and neighbors," said Rusty Carr, interim director at the City of Indianapolis Department of Metropolitan Development. "We welcome community partners to the table as we grow our programming to reach new audiences and better represent Indianapolis. It is our goal to continue enhancing the way our public spaces strengthen downtown's resilience, and we're proud to partner with the Indianapolis Cultural Trail in this work."
